

Coming Home!

My name is Pam Leiding and I have been blessed to be part of the Billings Fairchild Family on and off for over 25 years!

I have spent most of my adult life learning and loving my roles I have had here at the Center.

One of the first things my mentor Norma Ferguson taught me was, “we are not here to fix people”. Hence, my mission to love, nurture and assure all have a safe and productive life here as part of our Billings Fairchild Center family.

With that in mind I quickly learned to embrace all as individuals. Being from different places and upbringings make the world an awesome place. What a dull world we would be in if we all were the same. That goes for staff, residents and families.

Our residents choose to let us into their lives, to be a part of their world which makes us all family.

I have had many roles over the years at the Fairchild Center, DDCNA, activity trainer, case manager, with the most recent being Director of Programs. I continue to learn and grow with each family that reaches out to us and with each new admission into our family.

I have been able to better myself in my career by working with excellent people in many aspects of the health care field and have been afforded opportunities to finish my education in the field of psychology as well in the Administration

I tell friends and family that life is short so you should do something that you love. Feeling that you have been called or have a passion for what you do is the biggest reward you can have in life.

We are from different generations, walks of life, states, but together we make a terrific family here at the Billings Fairchild Center. It is good to be home 😊
